

Press Release

RELEASE DATE: 21 May 2011

RE: The Last Wild Island: Saving Tetepare by Dr John Read

ISBN: 9780980760002 RRP$ 29.95

Distributed by ALPA Books and Macmillan Distribution Services

It was a single line in a Lonely Planet guide that propelled newlyweds John and Katherine Read into a new life “The remote outpost of Tetepare is very hard to get to, but it’s set to be the next big battleground between the loggers and the advocates of low impact eco-tourism”this is the start of a two page article complete with stunning photos in the SA WEEKEND magazine this Saturday 21st May in The Advertiser. Read the full article on the website at this link

<http://www.adelaidenow.com.au/ipad/adelaide-pair-save-paradise-from-loggers/story-fn3o6wog-1226058936357>

SELLING POINTS:

- Last Wild Island is currently reviewed on Thorntree, the Lonely Planet website
- John Read is a cheerful, passionate and experienced storyteller, especially with a beer in one hand! His PhD in ecology, and his wide experience in Australia and overseas allows him to speak broadly about his book and general conservation topics. Contact: ecological@active8.net.au
- Display posters are available – please email to pagepublishingaustralia@gmail.com or ask your ALPA Books rep.
- download photos & this press release from this link www.pagepublishing.com.au
- 5% royalties from each sale go to the TDA (Tetepare Descendants Association)

